I remember Anna from when I was a little girl. She was the sweetest and kindest woman. She was genuinely interested in how you were when she asked. Over the years, I would see her and found her to be the same loving person. I am truly sorry that she is gone. Anna was very special. Janet (Cuomo) McSweeney

Our families have been neighbors since Andy built their house on East Capitol Street in Methuen. About 50 years ago Anna brought a gift to my mother, the madonna of the kitchen statue. It has been in our kitchen since. My mother passed away in 2009. Since then, every Friday night I light a votive candle under that statue and say a prayer. Tonight that candle and prayer is for Anna. She will be missed and remembered fondly.

Some of my greatest memories as a kid were visiting Nana and Papa. Whether it was Christmas Day brunches with the Lombardi's or mowing the lawn after school with mom, the time spent in Methuen and the love and compassion I received from my grandparents truly made me the person I am today. Nana you will be missed. - Love Din

As a kid, going to my Nana and Papa's house was always very special to me. It was a place unlike any other. Always full of life, people shouting across the table, talking, laughing, eating...Each Lombardi as loud at the next, all with full hearts and stomachs. Papa never wore a shirt, Nana would never sit down. She would ask you if you wanted another tonic from the garage. Of course you did, but you'd get it yourself because she's working far too hard on a Sunday as it is. I have fond memories of making rosaries with her after dinner. I love you Nana. We are all better people because of you. All the love.

Aunt Anna was my mother's sister. Together with their third sister Rita, the three formed a lifelong bond of respect and love. It wasn't Aunt Anna's idea to become the matriarch of our family, but not surprisingly, she handled it dignity and love. She was sweet, beautiful, and loving. And from those of us she helped raise as her children, nieces, and nephews, we will never forget you, and will love you forever.

A couple of years ago I was visiting home from being at school. Mom, Dad, Dylan, and Nana were all living at together while I was midway through my junior year. On the second day back home, I made a small personal pizza that I was gonna eat for lunch. After putting it in the oven, I sat at the kitchen Island and waited for the 10 minute mark. As soon as it was done I took it out of the oven and cut it into 8 slices slightly pulled apart to cool off for a minute. I went to the bathroom, and as I did I heard the fridge open. I washed my hands and as I opened the door and turned the corner, I saw nana moving faster than I have ever seen scurrying to her bedroom. She had a plate in one hand and a mug in the other. When I walked back into the kitchen, there were two slices of pizza missing, and the coffee mug that dad made the previous day was next to the microwave. She didn't need to sneak the pizza away, I would have given her as much as she wanted. But the way she did it is one of the funniest memories I'll ever have from here. If you ever lived with her, you would understand.- Dana
